ANOTHER HOT DAY.

Reports Continue of Deaths and Prostrations from Heat.

Thermometer Ambled Above 100 in the Shade During the Day.

Even in the Mountains the Heat was Intense—Suffering Caused.

Cincinnati, O., July 5. The heat continues today. Twenty-two cases of prostration have been reported in the city and eight deaths. The streets are almost deserted, only those going out whose business is imperative.

Two Deaths from Heat.

Fair Haven, Vt., July 5. Today was the warmest experienced in western Vermont for many years, the thermometer registering 97 degrees in the shade. Two men named Brown and Pond, both 75, succumbed to the heat, dying this afternoon in Castleton.

There are numerous prostrations in several districts.

Hottest for Years.

Lancaster, N. H., July 5. This has been the hottest day among the mountains recorded for many years, the thermometer ranging from 95 to 100 in the shade. One man, name unknown, was found unconscious from the heat.

Hot Stuff.

Manchester, N. H., July 5. In this city today the thermometer showed 100 degrees in the shade.

There were a number of heat prostrations.

Tremont Man Overcome.

Boston, July 5. Nelson M. Dawes, a sea captain, of Tremont, Maine, was overcome by the heat this afternoon. He is in a critical condition.

FELL FROM SULKY DEAD.

Dr. W. D. Farnham Expired on the Track at Rockland.

Rockland, Me., July 5. The immense crowd attending the races at the trotting park this afternoon came home very sadly as the ending was a terrible one.

As the horses came before the stand in commencing the second half mile of the final heat, Dr. W. D. Farnham, the driver and owner of Ikey M., swayed and fell from his sulky. When picked up it was found he was stone dead, having passed away from heart disease in the excitement. Dr. Farnham was a veterinary surgeon and a highly respected citizen.

A Reorganization.

Waterville, Me., July 5. The legal status for the reorganization of the Waterville & Fairfield Electric Railway and Light Co. is completed by attorneys E. F. Webb, of Waterville, and C. F. Woodard, of Bangor, representing the bondholders, and Hon. H. M. Heath, of Augusta, representing the stockholders. The movement is headed on the part of the stockholders by Hon. H. C. Libby, of Waterville, and W. D. Spaulding, of Boston, for the bondholders. These gentlemen offered to advance $20,000 each for the extension and other improvements which include a new steam plant. The latter is absolutely necessary for a satisfactory lighting service. The reorganization discontinues the sinking fund clause, which reads "The company shall deposit with the American Loan & Trust Co., of Boston, 10 per cent. of gross earnings."

The rate of interest on the bond issue of $240,000 will be cut down to 5 per cent. from the present rate of 6 per cent. on $200,000. The stock will be transferred to the Augusta Safe Deposit & Trust Co., for five years, the holders agreeing to pay no dividend on stock until there is an accumulation of $10,000 in the treasury.

It is alleged that the present earnings of the road are $40,000 yearly and the improvements will increase this, it is thought, to $60,000. Under the new regime, Hon. H. C. Libby, of this city, will be president and general manager.

The Florence A. Loaking.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., July 5. Schooner Florence A., of Cherryfield, Maine, Captain Strout, Port Liberty for Provincetown with coal, went ashore on Bass Ledge, Gay Head, yesterday afternoon. She was floated and arrived here this morning leaking. After being examined by a diver it was deemed advisable to tow the vessel to her destination with an extra crew on board to work the pumps. The diver found the keel damaged and the stern post started.

The Nahanda Struck.

Bath, Me., July 5. The steamer Nahanda, of the Eastern Boat Company's fleet which runs between this city and Boothbay and the islands, went ashore this morning on a ledge near Heron Island. With assistance she was gotten off and taked to the railway at Boothbay, leaking quite badly.

Steamer Met with Accident.

New York, July 5. The Mallory line steamer Nueces, which sailed Saturday for Key West and Galveston, returned to port to-day. Yesterday afternoon when in lat. 38, the high pressure crankpin was found to be fractured. Capt. Barstow thought it would be unsafe to continue the voyage so came back for repairs.

A Fatal Fall.

Manchester, N. H., July 5. Eulessus Deolet, child of Joseph Deolet, of 229 Chestnut street, fell from a platform fifty feet from the ground this afternoon and fractured her skull. Death resulted in half an hour.

STRENGTH FROM FOOD.

BUT THE FOOD MUST BE DIGESTED.

There is no way to get strong without food. Food is the strength maker.

Just enough food, properly digested, makes the strong and healthy man or woman. Too much, too little, or even the right quantity, not digested, will make anybody weak.

The beginning of all sickness is weakness. The beginning of all weakness is indigestion. So to keep strong, look after your digestion. That is the most important point of all.

When your food ferments in your stomach and forms gas, causes dizziness, nausea, bad taste, sick-headache, full feeling, nervousness, irritability, etc., you have indigestion. You are losing a part of your life. Every hour you are sick causes a loss of strength.

The way to cure it is to take Shaker Digestive Cordial. A few doses will relieve. If you take it long enough you will regain the strength you have lost.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is made from herbs and plants by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon. It contains very strong digestive tonic properties. It creates strength. It makes your food make you strong and bright and healthy. It clears your complexion and strengthens your body against disease. If you want to get strong and well, try a bottle.

Sold by all druggists at 10, 25, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

BASE BALL.

The Maine League Gives up the Ghost. Sure Thing.

Portland and Lewiston See Nothing but Sticking Money to Continue.

Boston Won Twice on Monday—Games in Leagues Big and Little.

Lewiston, Me., July 5. Lewiston won from Portland at Lee Park this morning in one of the nicest games seen here this season. Kelley pitched a magnificent game for the home team, holding the visitors down to 7 scattered hits. Lewiston found Miller with ease and batted him freely. Nichols of the Portlands injured his hand in practice and Mahoney substituted behind the bat. Score: Lewiston, 7; Portland, 3. Hits, 16 to 7. Errors, 2 to 1. Batteries, Kelley and Edgar; Miller and Mahoney.

The Last of the Maine State League.

Portland, Me., July 5. The last Maine State League base ball game was played on the Portland grounds today, Mr. Woodbury, president of the league and financial backer of the Portland team, concluding from the small holiday attendance that it would be a case of throwing away more good money to continue. There were but little over 1100 paid admissions in this city this afternoon. At Lewiston in the morning the attendance was even more discouraging, between 300 and 400, and Manager Garrity has no more desire to cater to an unappreciative public than has Mr. Woodbury and Lewiston drops out with Portland.

The contest this afternoon was too one sided to be interesting, the Lewistons winning with ridiculous ease. Engel was batted from the box and Miller, who followed him, was also a soft mark. Mahoney then went to the box and did somb better.

It was long after the supper hour when the game was finished. The score: Lewiston, 15; Portlands, 6. Hits, 10 to 10. Errors, 2 to 7. Batteries, Conroy and Edgar; Engel, Miller, Mahoney and Mahoney and Nichols.

National League.

Cincinnati, O., July 5. The Orioles were defeated this morning by the reds in an exciting game. Hoffer pitched fine ball until the seventh inning, when the reds made three singles and brought home three runs. He was immediately taken out and Nops sent in. The latter was touched up for five singles and a double in the eighth and four runs was the result. Foltz was sent to the bench by Umpire Lynch for kicking. Attendance, 11,000. Score: Cincinnati, 8; Baltimore, 5. Hits, 15 to 11. Errors, 4 to 2. Batteries, Rhines, Ehret and Peitz and Schriver; Hoffer, Nops and Clark.

Chicago Won.

Chicago, July 5. Costly errors in the seventh and a bunching of hits in the eighth, gave the morning game, which was closely played, to the colts. Score: Chicago, 6; Washington, 4. Hits, 9 to 10. Errors, 3 to 5. Batteries, Donohue and Kerwan; Swalm and Farrell.

Morning Games.

At Pittsburg—Cleveland, 4; Pittsburg, 3.

At Philadelphia—Boston, 3; Philadelphia, 3.

At New York—New York, 10; Brooklyn, 0.

At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 8; Baltimore, 5.

At Chicago—Chicago, 6; Washington, 4.

Boston Won Again.

Philadelphia, July 5. The Phillies fell down in the ninth this afternoon after having played a beautiful game. In the ninth Boston worked in five singles and the Phillies committed their only errors. The result was five runs and a victory for Boston. Lewis and Lake had the Boston's battery work in the ninth. Score: Boston 8, Philadelphia 5. Hits, 13 to 11. Errors, 2 to 2. Batteries, Nichols and Ganzel; Taylor and Boyle.

Afternoon Games.

At Fall River—Fall River 12, New Bedford 10.

At Newport—Newport 10, Pawtucket 0.

At Brockton—Taunton 7, Brockton 1.

PORTLAND'S CELEBRATION.

It Was One of the Grandest in the History of the City.

Portland, Me., July 5. Portland had one of the grandest and most successful celebrations of Independence Day in its history today. The city was crowded with visitors from all parts of the state and they witnessed in the morning a military and civic parade that eclipsed anything of the kind ever before seen in the state, with both state and national guards, secret orders, fire department, letter carriers, schools, Mardi Gras floats, a trade display, etc. There were also in line the crew of the warship Massachusetts and the Naval Reserve brigade of Lynn, Mass.

The programme of the day was diversified and on a high scale of excellence throughout, among the features besides the parade being manoeuvres by the naval reserve brigade, two balloon ascensions, rowing and yacht races in the harbor, band concerts and an elaborate fireworks display in the evening.

The weather was perfect, it being a genuine Portland summer day in fact. The sky was clear and the rays of the sun were most agreeably tempered by a breeze from the sea. There was almost complete immunity from accidents and the thousands of out of town people were nicely provided for.

Sentenced for Embezzlement.

Toronto, Ont., July 5. John G. Gibson, secretary and treasurer of the O'Keefe Brewing Co., and a well known clubman, pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of $5000 of the company's money. He was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

Bahl For the Champ.

New York, July 5. Ellery H. Clark, of the B. A. A., by winning six events, and running second and third respectively in two others won the title of individual all-around champion of the United States at Bergen Point today.

THE SENATE.

He Insists That no Agreement Can Be Reached

For a Final Vote in the Senate on the Pending Tariff Bill.

Mr. Allison Made Another Unsuccessful Effort on Monday.

Senate Proceeded with the Bill with More Time Wasted on Talk.

Washington, July 5. The senate continued discussion of the tariff bill today.

A legal discussion ensued in the Senate as to the legality of the provision that unstamped bonds shall be utterly void and shall not be used in evidence.

Mr. Lindsay (Ky.) declared that the provisions should be struck out, unless Congress intended to follow the example of the king of England establishing a stamp tax before the independence of America was declared.

Mr. Platt (Conn.) speaking for the Finance Committee said that as the question had been raised it would be carefully considered and if need be changed before the bill became a law.

The stamp amendment as a whole was then agreed to on viva voce vote, no call for nays and no vote being made.

Mr. Allison postponed the amendment heretofore offered by Mr. Spooner for a tariff inquiry by three members of the board of appraisers. Mr. Teller took occasion in this connection to criticise the committee for first transforming the House bill and then going back to substance to the House rates. He had tried to learn what amount of revenue the bill would yield, and he said he would be glad to have the chairman, Mr. Allison, throw some light on the subject.

This brought Mr. Allison to his feet for the first definite statement as to the revenue expected to be derived from the bill. He said it was not possible for an expert to make exact calculations on the amount of revenue a tariff bill would yield.

"From the best information available," proceeded Mr. Allison, "I believe it is bill will yield $175,000,000 to $180,000,000 the first year, that is from July 1, 1897, to July 1, 1898."

"How much the second year?" queried Mr. White.

"It depends," answered Mr. Allison, "but I would say something over $200,000,000."

Mr. Vest remarked that the average ad valorem rate of the bill would be much higher than that of the existing law; the McKinley ad valorem being 49 per cent., the existing law 30 per cent., while the estimate on the House bill, was 57 per cent.

Mr. Allison said the average ad valorem of the bill in its final form would be in the neighborhood of 50 per cent. It would be higher than the existing law, as the additional duties on sugar had necessitated an increase in the average ad valorem. Importations had been pouring in in anticipation of the passage of this bill.

"Does the Senator say there have been large importations of sugar?" interrupted Mr. White.

"I have no doubt of it."

"Then," said Mr. White, "that shows that the sugar trust understands the effect of this bill."

"Certainly," replied Mr. Allison. "We may have our eyes closed here but the eyes of the business world are not closed, and importers are rushing their goods through the custom house."

Mr. Teller, (Col.) again got the floor at this point. He criticised the estimates of the amount of revenue the bill would produce which had been offered by the majority.

He ridiculed Chairman Dingley's estimate and referred to the admission that means must be found outside of the bill as it came from the House to supply the deficit. He spoke of the various preparations the Finance Committee had made and then abandoned. The beer tax, he said, would not have cost the consumers a single mill. It would have been borne by the beer manufacturers, who had been prosperous through the years of industrial stagnation. "But," continued Mr. Teller, "a great election was pending in one of the great States of the Union, where a large portion of the voting population did not believe in a tax on beer, so it was sacrificed."

He said that from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 could be obtained by a reduction of the internal revenue tax on whiskey. His argument was that the tax of $1.10 a gallon, which was in reality 1,500 per cent. stimulated illicit distilling.

The Secretary of the Treasury, he said, estimated that a tax of 70 cents per gallon would produce the maximum amount of revenue. Mr. Teller charged that the wood alcohol manufacturers were closely connected with one of the great trusts of the country, in fact one of the greatest manufactories of wood alcohol was owned by a trust. "It might as well name it," said he, "it is the Sugar trust, which has boasted that it has strength enough to prevent wood alcohol from being placed on a footing with grain alcohol, and of preventing a reduction of the tax on distilled spirits. Have we reached the point where the American Congress is powerless to do its duty as it sees it? The powers of these trusts," Mr. Teller said, "were appealed to as they were last fall for larger contributions than had ever been obtained before in the political history of the country. And the money had been used, not for legitimate election purposes, but to corrupt and intimidate the voters."

Mr. Lindsay (Ky.) followed with a severe arraignment of the wood alcohol trust, which he said was reaping millions a year by the duty of $2.50 per gallon on the product on one hand, and the high internal revenue tax which it does not have to pay on the other.

After some remarks by Mr. Stewart Mr. Allen offered some amendments to the amendment so as to provide that the President shall with the advice and consent of the Senate select the general appraisers, not more than one of whom shall be of the same political party.

Mr. Spooner defended his amendment, which he said Mr. Allen had either not read or had completely misunderstood.

Mr. White (Cal.) thought the proposed commission was unwise. He thought this amendment was a declaration of the failure of the bill.

Mr. Caffery criticized the methods of making up the commission and said he would offer an amendment providing that the commission should consist of experts appointed by the commission on labor.

Mr. Morgan opposed the commission amendment on the ground that the Congress had no right to delegate its powers. He drifted into a general discussion of the bill. It was framed, he said, for the purpose of paying the debts of the trusts who wanted protection at the expense of the revenue.

Mr. Allison said in view of the opposition the committee would withdraw the amendment as it was not sufficiently important to delay the bill.

Mr. Allison made another effort to have a time fixed for the final vote.

Mr. Jones insisted that "no agreement could be reached.

"I give notice," said Mr. Allison, "that I will ask the Senate to remain in session to-morow night at least until the bill is reported to the Senate."

At 5.40 the Senate adjourned.

A Hard Problem.

It appears probable tonight that the Republican Senatorial caucus called today will rescind the previous order directing the committee to report a sugar amendment, but the sugar bounty advocates hope at the same time the Republicans will be instructed to vote for the amendment as offered by Senator Allen.

The Democrats are still opposed to the bounty provision and say they will debate it an indefinite time to prevent its incorporation into the bill.

RACES ON THE FOURTH.

Some Lively Events at Augusta and on Other Tracks on Monday.

Augusta, Me., July 5. The races at the Augusta driving park this afternoon were well contested, keeping up a lively interest to the close. There were over 1,500 people present. The day was hot, and for so early in the season, remarkably fast time was made. Twilight Wilkes was the star performer of the day. Excitement ran high in the 2 37 class, Charlie Wilkes and Sammy W. running a dead heat in the fifth, a sixth being necessary to decide.

2.50 class—Special race, Nellie D., beat Fred M.; time 2.32.

Rockland Races.

HOULTON CELEBRATION.

A Decidedly Lively Event in the Progressive Aroostook Town.

Houlton, Me., July 5. Houlton had a grand celebration today with 15,000 people at least in town and they were well entertained here.

During the early morning there were the usual demonstrations. At 10 the parade traversed the principal streets. In the street pageant appeared seven bands escorting such notable features as Gov. Powers and staff, Co. L, 2d Inf. N. G. S. M., Fredericton, Houlton and Woodstock firemen, horse guards, and a merchants' parade.

Washburn's circus parade appeared as part of the pageant.

At 11.30 Gov. Powers delivered the oration from the reviewing stand in Market square. He touched upon patriotic subjects in his usual able manner.

The staff and other distinguished guests occupied seats on the reviewing stand during the address.

This afternoon people crowded Maple Grove Park. Within the park gates a circus exhibition and horse trot proceeded simultaneously.

This evening there was a grand display of fireworks, another circus exhibition and other sports.

The decorations along the business streets were elaborate.

A NOTABLE CELEBRATION.

Calais Had Finest One Ever Known—One Serious Accident.

New York, July 5. The exhibition sparring bout between Fitzsimmons and John L. Sullivan, scheduled for this afternoon at Ambrose Park, Brooklyn, attracted a large crowd. The bout, however, did not take place. Julian announced the police had forbidden it.

Sullivan then walked on the platform. A warm reception was given him. He said he and Fitz were anxious for a contest. He was wildly applauded. Fitz did not make a speech but gave a wrestling exhibition.

Inhabitants Who Did Not Fly Massacred or Taken Prisoners.

Athens, July 5. The Turkish troops, after a fight with the inhabitants, have reoccupied the village of Kalabaka, north Thessaly.

The attack was made Thursday by Turks and Albanians, 2,000 strong.

The inhabitants fought desperately, killing many Turks, but were finally overpowered.

Most of them fled to the mountains. The others have probably been massacred or been taken prisoners.

The Turks after pillaging the town destroyed it.

INSTANTLY KILLED

By an Explosion of Fireworks—Terrible Accident at Nonquitt.

New Bedford, Mass., July 5. Henry L. Stone, former president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, and president of the Chicago Telephone Co., was instantly killed at Nonquitt today at 11.30 o'clock, by an explosion of fireworks.

Mr. Stone with his family and other summer residents of Nonquitt were celebration the national holiday with a handsome display of fireworks. Among them was a piece which when exploded let loose animals of various colors. Mr. Stone had applied the torch to this piece, but for some reason it did not appear as if the spark was going to reach the mine.

Mr. Stone advanced and took the piece up in his hands. Before he was aware of it it exploded, striking him full in the face. His features were quite badly mutilated and he sustained a compound fracture of the skull.

His friends who were present cannot tell just how the accident occurred. One gentleman who was present states that when Mr. Stone first applied the torch to the bomb the party turned their backs toward Mr. Stone and ran a short distance for safety's sake, just about the time the explosion should have taken place.

When the bomb did not at once go off and seemed as if it was not going to, Mr. Stone took it in his hands, holding it quite close to his face, presumably to fan the spark into a blaze by blowing his breath upon it. Before the party had fairly turned to view the explosion, they were horrified to see Mr. Stone drop to the ground amid a crash and a volume of flame and smoke.

Dr. Bullard, of New Bedford, who was at the seashore resort, was immediately called, but it was useless, as Mr. Stone was cold in death, having been instantly killed by the shock.

Mr. Stone leaves a wife and four children.

The remains will be taken to Chicago for interment.

Waterville, Me., July 5. A fire which started at 4 p. m. in the storehouse of Hanson, Webber & Dunham on Main street spread to other buildings and destroyed over 60000 worth of property.

The spreading was due to fireworks etc., and explosions kept the firemen from the flames some time.

The fire extended to the H. C. Burleigh stores, occupied by the Rochester Clothing Co., Postal Telegraph Co., E. A. Pierce, Hoyt's Express Co. and John Burleigh.

The People Want Action.

The Boston Herald declares that there is not the "shadow of a doubt that if there had been a free, full and open discussion the tariff bill that is shortly to be enacted would be a measure of a much more conservative character." What the Herald really means when it uses the term conservative is a bill from which the element of protection had been eliminated. Certainly such a bill would never receive the sanction of the people, and there is nothing in the Congressional proceedings to warrant the belief that if the members talked indefinitely it would materially affect the character of the bill. As a matter of fact there has been a free, full and open discussion, so full indeed that even Democratic papers with a degree of candor entirely lacking in any tariff argument in the Herald have called a halt on the interminable talk, saying that it was doing no good and was causing the Government a tremendous loss in revenue.

What influence have the speeches of Vest, Jones and Mills exercised upon the subsequent votes? Every one who has followed the debate with any care knows that the wearisome speeches of one or other of these Senators, principally the first two named, has been ready in effect as the different schedules come for consideration, have not changed a vote. They have even been unable to hold the vote on the Democratic side of the chamber and in a moment of disgust Mr. Vest summed up tersely the whole effect of this anti-protection crusade when he said the vote on his side was getting more lonesome every day.

The simple truth is that the Vests, Jones and Heralds are talking the same nonsense that they have preached for many years past, while the people sick of the results of the last four years of Clevelandism have completely abandoned the free trade dogmas they once held in accord with the Republican policy on the subject. A campaign waged to-day on that issue would sweep State after State that has heretofore voted solidly Democratic into the Republican column. This condition was even apparent last year and was the cause of Mr. Cleveland's sudden interest in the currency question.

Democratic Opinion.

[New York Sun.]

The Ohio Democrats have nominated a suitable plutocrat for Governor and seem to think that they have a chance of success in spite of the sulkiness of Populists and silver Republicans. They think the Chicago platform, on which they stand with all their feet, is acceptable to the voters of Ohio in 1897, although it was not in 1896. What ground is there for believing so? Leave out a few screeheads who growl on account of their failure to get office under the Administration. Leave out the few featherheads who expected that prosperity was to come at once and without waiting for the passage of a tariff bill and the production of a sufficient revenue for the Government. Leave out the persons who for local or personal reasons are dissatisfied with the administration of Governor Bushnell. We see no reason to believe that all these classes together are numerous or important. Such as they are, they may be the chief reliance of the Ohio Democrats in this campaign.

Has anybody observed any new demand in Ohio for the free coinage of silver? Are the Republicans of Ohio coming up of nights to reflect upon the wickedness of making contracts to pay debts in gold? The Ohio Democrats in their platform dwell with special emphasis on the coinage and currency parts of the Chicago programme; but are there any signs that Ohio has changed its financial belief? Is Ohio crying for government by riot, the income tax, and the packing of the Supreme Court in order to have the Constitution violated at will?

There is as yet absolutely no evidence of a change of opinion in Ohio as to these things. The main hope of the Ohio Democrats must be found in local dissatisfactions and in the unwise resolution of the gold Democrats to maintain a separate party organization instead of uniting with Republicans against the Chicago platform.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Just calls itself the Democratic party Ohio held a State convention at Columbus Wednesday and reaffirmed the Chicago platform, special indorsement being given to the free silver plank. This shows a determination to keep to the front the conditions that prevailed in November and to contest the campaign on the money issue regardless of State questions that may be pressing for consideration. It is not surprising that the convention was a roaring and rampant demonstration for Bryanism and all that it represents. Ohio is the home of the cheap money heresy. There greenbackism had its strongest hold. And the voters of the Commonwealth have never outgrown their fondness for visionary financial schemes.

The campaign will be one in which clubs and brickbats will play no unimportant part. As a rule the Republicans have won when the fighting was in the open and when the party was not in an apathetic condition. There will be no apathy this year, for Mark Hanna is not asleep, and as there is a Senatorship at stake the contest will be doubly interesting. The Democratic candidate for Governor, Horace L. Chapman, is a specimen of what is called the business man in politics, and is rich and popular. In appearance he resembles ex-President Harrison and like him can make an excellent speech. Except as a stepping stone, however, to something better the Governorship of the State is of little consequence except as a distinction, for it carries few appointments and is hedged in by a multiplicity of restrictions.

If the silver Democrats think they are going to have an easy victory they are much mistaken, for it is the intention of the gold Democrats to nominate a ticket of their own, leaving a divided Democratic vote, while that of the Republicans will be united. Gold standard Democrats will be nominated for the Legislature wherever there is a possibility of defeating the silver Democratic candidates. Not that the gold men expect themselves to triumph. They are fighting for principle and not for spoils, and they will be content if they keep in the background these candidates who stand on a platform of repudiation and riot, which in essence is what the Chicago declaration amounts to. The pace will be hot and more attention will be paid to the Legislative candidates than to the candidates for the Governorship.

The Tariff Bill.

A Washington despatch says: Now that the Senate changes in the tariff bill are completed it is practicable to form a close estimate of the prospective effect of that measure when it will have passed upon the statute books. Of course the conference will make some further changes, but it is not expected that they will be of such a character as materially to affect the income of the Government from the bill when it becomes a law.

"I think we may assume," said Chairman Dingley of the Ways and Means Committee, talking upon the subject, "that the new law will, after the enormous stock of foreign goods now on hand has been absorbed, produce sufficient revenue comfortably to meet the expenses of the Government."

"You do not suppose, then, that it will meet the running expenses in the first few months of its operation?"

"It will be scarcely reasonable to expect that it will. As everybody knows, there is more than a year's supply of foreign wool in the country. By some it is estimated that there are two years' supply. There is probably nearly or quite a year's supply of sugar on hand; there is a large supply of woolen goods and many months' supply of tobacco, to say nothing of the hundreds of other articles which have been brought in in excess of the usual demands and of the immediate requirements. So I shall not be surprised if the law fails to produce enough to meet running expenses during the first few months of its work. Indeed, it would be surprising if it should do so."

"This probable shortage of revenues in the first few months under the new law will be due, however, to the excessive importations of the last few months Mr. Dingley?"

"Entirely so. I have no doubt that the bill is ample in its provision for revenue under ordinary circumstances and that as soon as the large stock of foreign goods now in the country is absorbed and the usual demand begins again, the revenue will be ample. Of course I do not yet know what the bill will be exactly, for there are many points in which the House and the Senate are still in disagreement and there will probably be concessions on both sides, though I still hope and believe that on important matters the House rates will stand. Whatever changes may be made, however, as between the House and the Senate bills will not be sufficient seriously to affect the questions of total revenue, and I believe that the law, when it is at work normally and conditions are normal, will supply ample revenue and in a way very satisfactory to the people."

The Century IN 1897. ALL NEW FEATURES.

The Century will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine. Its table of contents including each month the best in literature and art. The present interest in American history makes especially timely A Great Novel of the American Revolution, the leading serial feature for 1897, and the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," purports to be the autobiography of its hero, a soldier on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most interesting depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the readers of this great romance will obtain from its clearer idea of the people who were foremost in Revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

Campaigning With Grant, by General Horace Porter, is the title of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff and a close friend of the chief, and the diary which he kept through the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen-pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November Century.

A new novel by Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Dr. Claudius," "Casa Braccio," etc., entitled "A Rose of Yesterday," a story of modern life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous wood-engraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters also is to this issue. New features will be announced from time to time.

STRIKE BEGUN.

Coal Miners of Pittsburg District Went Out Monday.

But Full Magnitude of the Suspension Cannot be Told Until Today.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 5.—The great struggle of the coal miners was inaugurated throughout the Pittsburg district today, but it will be impossible to tell anything about the true situation before tomorrow, as this is a general holiday and work is suspended in all the mines of the district. This was a day of mass meetings. By a preconcerted arrangement of the district executive board of the united mine workers meetings were held in nearly every mining settlement that was represented at Saturday's convention in this city and the miners were implored not to falter in the great struggle that has begun.

What effect the meetings will have cannot be determined until Tuesday morning. When it is learned just how many men refuse to go to work, then the magnitude of the strike will manifest itself. Much doubt is expressed as to the action of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie miners on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio; the M. A. Hanna & Co.'s miners on the Pan-Handle, who are working at the 60 cent rate under an iron-clad contract, and the New York & Cleveland miners at Turtle Creek, Plum Creek and Sandy Creek. The miners' officials claim these men will strike and the operators say they will not. In speaking of the strike Prest Dolan said:

"The coming week will be a busy one. I have every reason to believe that with the exception of a very few mines the suspension will be general. Our men realize that this is the fight of their lives and front the expressions of determination I hear on all sides, I have every reason to believe that the strike will be successful.

"There is an erroneous impression by reason of so many industries being shut down there will be little demand for coal. It is not generally known, but the supply of coal for the manufactories in the Pittsburg district is but a drop in the bucket when compared with the lake trade which supplies the market where coal mines are practically unknown."

The general suspension to those in position to know presents some very discouraging features. The past winter has been severe on the mining craft. Business has been very dull and in addition the lowest rates ever paid in the district prevailed. Women and children have been reduced to the country. With spring the conditions were a little improved and during the past months many mines have been running continuously.

OHIO'S HOT WAVE.

Extremes of Heat Reported for Sunday.

Cincinnati, O., July 5.—Commercial Tribune's specials from Ohio points report the extremes of heat yesterday as follows:

Dayton—100 to 110 degrees; two deaths, many prostrations.

Lima—105 degrees at 3 p. m.; one death.

Newark—102 to 105 degrees.

Upper Sandusky—95 at 8 a. m., and 105 at 3 p. m.

Five Fatalities.

Louisville, Ky., July 5.—There were many cases of prostration from heat yesterday, five of them resulting fatally. Those who died from the effects of the heat were John Saele, Warren Holbert, Marie Ford, Michael Hicks and an unknown man found at Fifth and the river.

Besides these cases there were eight other cases of prostration.

NOTHING NEW

In the Guldensuppe Case Monday.

New York, July 5.—There are no new developments in the Guldensuppe case today. It was hoped that the victim's head would be found ere this but now it is feared that it has been destroyed by means of chemicals or that Thorn may have taken it with him on a transatlantic steamer and dropped it overboard, in the ocean.

The understanding today is that Mrs. Nack and Thorn's cases will be brought before the grand jury tomorrow and an effort made to secure their indictment for the murder of Guldensuppe.

It is the firm belief of the police that the man was murdered in the house at Woodside, L. I., from the evidence gathered in that neighborhood on Saturday and a considerable amount of the labor performed by the detectives Sunday was expected in and about that Long Island village.

It is considered among the detectives at police headquarters that Mrs. Nack's words and actions amount to a confession of her complicity in the crime.

Robbers Shot Two.

Chicago, July 5.—Patrick Grace, a saloon keeper at 1501 West 47th street, and his wife Mary were shot and mortally wounded last night by three masked men who attempted to rob the saloon. Grace has a bullet in his right temple, and his wife was wounded in the forehead. The robbers escaped.

The three men demanded the contents of the cash drawer and upon resistance from Grace fired upon him and his wife at close range. The shooting attracted the attention of every one in the vicinity and neighbors came running from all directions.

The robbers disappeared in the stock yards. As they ran one of them dropped the handkerchief that was tied over his face. This is the only clue the police have.

Mr. and Mrs. Grace were unconscious, and the police could get only a meagre description of the robbers.

Bello of Bath Crew Arrived.

New York, July 5.—On board the steamer Sardinian Prince, which arrived this morning from South American ports, via Barbodes, were chief officer, T. Cox, second officer, George Harris, and 15 seamen belonging to the ship Belle of Bath, of Searsport, Me., which left this port on June 2 bound for Hong Kong with a cargo of case oil and which took fire and was burned at sea on June 18.

The vessel quickly became a mass of flames and the ship's crew were compelled to take to the boats and sailed a distance of 150 miles to Barbados, which port was reached on Sunday morning the 20th. Capt. Curtis, the Belle of Bath's master, remained at Barbados and expected to sail for home within a few days.

Gen. Hovey, III.

Normal, Ill., July 5.—Gen. Chas. E. Hovey, of Washington, D. C., is lying critically ill at the home of his brother-in-law, John W. Cook, president of the Illinois State Normal university. Gen. Hovey was the first president of the normal university, from its organization in 1857 to 1861 when he went to the war as colonel of the 42nd Illinois regiment. He is about 70 years of age. He came here two weeks ago from Washington to attend the 40th anniversary of the founding of the university. He was ill when he arrived and was barely able to appear at the celebration. He is suffering from general debility and nervous exhaustion. He is a prominent member of the bar at Washington and is the father of Richard Hovey, the poet.

Flint Glass Workers' Union.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 5.—The 20th annual convention of the American Flint Glass Workers union began here at 10 o'clock this morning with about 150 delegates, representing local unions and in Canada in attendance. Today's session was short and an adjournment until tomorrow was taken after a temporary organization had been effected in order that the delegates could participate in the Independence day celebration in Pittsburg.

Eight People Drowned.

Chicago, July 5.—Eight people were drowned in Lake Michigan yesterday while bathing, at various points along the beach. The dead are: E. R. Quinnings, Harry Nelson, E. A. Hider, 10 years old, John Sodeman, James Sullivan, John Sprawka and one unidentified man.

Chicago Races.

Chicago, July 5.—Carl A. Anderson, a seven minute man, won the Pullman road race in 40:30. R. W. Merrill and Chas. Terry, being six minute men, were respectively second and third. The first covered the distance in 40½ minutes. The time prize goes to Nelson or to W. J. Belated, a two minute man.

A Cyclone.

Duluth, Minn., July 5.—A cyclone is reported to have struck the town of Barnum, Minn., last night just before midnight. All telegraph wires were down and it is impossible to learn particulars.

THE FOURTH.

Its Observance in Various Cities Far and Near.

Parades, Fireworks, Sports, Etc., Features of the Day in Many Places.

New York, July 5.—Independence Day was celebrated here as usual. Flags were raised on all public buildings and many private ones at sunrise and there were the customary fireworks displays.

Many people went to the seashore to escape the heat and all of the excursions to nearby points were crowded.

The Tammany society held its annual celebration in the early forenoon. The Declaration of Independence was read and addresses were made by many out of town and local orators.

Among the letters of regret read at Tammany Hall was one from ex-President Cleveland, and one from Wm. J. Bryan.

Washington Celebration.

Washington, July 5.—A patriotic celebration was held here today at the Grand Opera House under the joint auspices of the national association of Democratic clubs and the Democracy of the District of Columbia and contiguous sections.

Patriotic addresses were delivered by Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia and Hon. John C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania. Short speeches were made by members of Congress and others representing the eighty-eight states.

The Declaration of Independence was read by Hon. Andrew A. Lipscomb as was also the last letter written by Thos. Jefferson, expressing regret that he was unable to attend Independence Day celebration in this city 70 years ago. Mr. Sibley acted as chairman of the meeting.

A letter of regret from W. J. Bryan was read.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the Dingley bill as a "More flagrant robbery of the masses than the Republican law known as the McKinley bill, and demanding the free coinage of silver."

The Day in Boston.

Boston, July 5.—The dawn of the 121st anniversary of the independence of the United States was heralded by the general discharge of explosives by those who usually usher in the Fourth of July at the stroke of midnight, but whose enthusiasm and powder had been opened up by a strict edict of the police until 1 o'clock a. m. In view of the fact that the Fourth fell on Sunday, and the celebration was necessarily deferred one day.

At the appointed hour, however, the volume of noise burst forth with a resonance that made the earth tremble, and that was absolutely prohibitive of further rest for the residents who preferred bed and slumber to bombs and firecrackers.

The city's official celebration was begun with the ringing of bells, firing of cannon, and the hoisting of "Old Glory" on all public and on many private buildings at 6 o'clock. At that time it was easy to foretell a hot day as far as weather was concerned for the sun was blazing away with July intensity. All business with the exception of transportation, and that of restaurants, dealers in mineurals, and soda water dispensers, was practically suspended.

In all the public schools a series of celebrations were held which were well attended. The city of Boston held its official public exercises in Boston Theatre where the venerable clergyman, Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., delivered the oration of the day.

The devotees of outdoor recreation and sports had a profusion of events from which to choose their entertainment.

At convenient points about the city could be found almost every kind of athletic games, both aquatic and field.

Band concerts were given during the day and the events of the day closed with banquets, dancing, and public and private exhibitions of fireworks.

Reports from New England cities indicate that the day was observed with the usual ceremonies. Sports, parades, fireworks, band concerts, etc., claimed the principal features.

Portland's Celebration.

Portland, July 5.—The celebration of the Fourth in Portland passed off with great success today. The parade, two miles in length, was one of the most successful in the history of the city. This afternoon band concerts, balloon ascension and naval parade take up the time and a grand display of fireworks will be made tonight. There are thousands of strangers in the city and the decorations are most elaborate.

In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—The 121st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was celebrated today in front of Independence Hall, under the auspices of the Society of the War of 1812 of Pennsylvania. The ceremonies consisted of an address by Warwick, reading of the Declaration by Independence and singing by the school children. Thomas F. Bayard, ex-ambassador to England, delivered the oration of the day.

Killed by an Explosion.

New Bedford, Mass., July 5.—Henry B. Stone, vice president of the Burlington railroad, was instantly killed this morning at his summer home at Nonquitt by the explosion of a dynamite bomb. Mr. Stone had lighted the bomb but it failed to go off and he approached it to see what was the trouble. When he reached the bomb it exploded in his face, killing him instantly.

Mr. Stone arrived from Chicago with his wife and four children Saturday. The sad occurrence has cast a gloom over the celebration by the cottagers at Nonquitt.

Murder in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., July 5.—Fred Netzer, a peddler who is 22 years of age and lives at No. 505 Boat street, was murdered last night by an unknown man, whose only known name is John. The men quarreled in a way rather mysterious to the police, about a woman, and the unknown man cut Netzer's throat, severing the jugular. Netzer died in the patrol wagon a moment before he arrived at the city hospital and the body was taken to the morgue. The tragedy is more or less involved in mystery.

Maine Pensions.

Pensions have been granted to the following residents of Maine:

July 5.—Additional, James Moore, soldiers' Home, Kennebec; Wm. Valpatte, Togus; Frank Hance, Waterville; increase, Albert S. Brock, Westbrook; John Gallahan, Soldiers' Home, Kennebec; reissue and increase, John M. Akers, Alfred.

A Strange Story.

That truth is stranger than fiction is often demonstrated but Miss Reba Bryn, of Philadelphia, tells of an experience which carries off the palm. Two years ago, while traveling through Southern Italy, Miss Bryn lost a leather satchel. There was quite a sum of money and some valuable papers in the satchel but what worried her most was loss of her engagement ring, which was of very quaint design, having been the marriage token in the family of her fiance for several generations. Of course every endeavor was made to recover the lost article. Advertisements were inserted in all the principal papers of the province, and although strenuous efforts were made nothing was ever heard of the satchel.

A few days ago, while visiting a friend in West California, a street piano wheeled up before the porch on which they were seated, and after playing a few melodies a young Italian girl came up to collect some money. Imagine Miss Bryn's surprise to recognize her long lost ring on the girl's finger. Questioning the girl in her native language brought forth the fact that her family was from the district in which the satchel had been lost. Her father had been a sheep raiser and a shepherd dog he owned had one day come in with the satchel in his mouth. No one in the family could read, which probably accounted for the fact that it had never been returned. An explanation of the circumstances, together with a generous offer, restored the ring to its rightful owner.

Love in the Scale

"How much does the baby weigh?" is only another way of asking, "Is he healthy?" When a woman is worried into a nervous condition by the pains and disorders of her sex, she cannot be expected to look after her own health. A prospective mother cannot be early to look after her own health. This is a time to be thinking of the baby. Any weakness or depression, or lack of vigor on the part of the mother should be overcome early in expectant time by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which gives perfect health and strength of the expectant mother, especially concentrated in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby a safe and comparatively free from suffering time and leaves the mother strong and cheerful to transmit healthy constitution to the child.

No other medicine in the world has such an especial claim to gratitude from their children. It is the only specific for all the peculiar ailments of the feminine organism. It is a medicine of its kind devised for the purpose by a skilled and educated expert in this particular field.

Mrs. H. Clemons of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I am now the happy mother of a fine healthy baby girl. Your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Medical Adviser' have done me good than anything ever taken. Three months prior to my confinement I began using your medicines, taking three bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of Golden Medical Discovery, which my mother had taken with good results. I suffered but little pain during my confinement, and my baby weighed ten pounds, only lost a few ounces in weight, and was healthy and strong, and had two teeth when only two days old. For nervousness I took Dr. Miles' Nervine, which my mother had taken with good results. I was entirely free from nervousness during my confinement. I cannot say too much in favor of 'Favorite Prescription' and Dr. Pierce's other medicines, which I shall always use in my family. I do not think I ever felt better in my life."

Love in the Scale.

"How much does the baby weigh" is only another way of asking, "Is he healthy and strong?" When a baby is welcomed into the world with loving care and forethought, his chances of health and strength are increased a hundred-fold.

A prospective mother cannot begin too early to look after her own health and physical condition. This is sure to be reflected in the baby. Any weakness or nervous depression, or lack of vigor on the mother's part should be overcome early during the expectant time by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which promotes the general health and strength of the organism especially concerned in motherhood.

It makes the coming of baby absolutely safe and comparatively free from pain; renders the mother strong and cheerful, and transmits healthy constitutional vigor to the child.

No other medicine in the world has been such an unqualified blessing to mothers and their children. It is the one positive specific for all weak and diseased conditions of the feminine organism. It is the only medicine of its kind devised for this one purpose by a trained and educated specialist in this particular field.

Mrs. E. A. Cummings, of No. 4200 Humphrey St., St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I am now a happy mother of a fine, healthy baby girl. I feel that your Favorite Prescription and little 'Pellets' have done me more good than anything I have ever taken. Three months previous to my confinement I began using your medicine. I took three bottles of the 'Prescription,' four vials of your 'Pellets' and one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' With my first baby I suffered 36 hours, then had to lose him. He was very delicate and only lived 12 hours. For two years I suffered untold agony, and had two miscarriages. Your 'Favorite Prescription' saved both my child and myself. My baby is not yet three weeks old and I do not think I ever felt better in my life."

A party consisting of Mrs. Fannie Tefft Davis, Miss Laura Tefft, Miss Lettie Sparks, Mr. Nelson A. Tefft, of this city, and Miss Rosa Berry, of Bangor, have been spending a few days at Northport, intending to return today.

A drunken row was started in a store on Oak street at South Brewer Monday forenoon and for a short time things were pretty warm and hot words were mingled with blow and their a blow. City Marshal Eckett, Officer Brown and Constable Gilliden were called on to quell the disturbance and their appearance had the desired effect.

There was a quiet wedding Monday forenoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Breed on Holyoke street, the contracting parties being S. J. Mitchell, of West Sullivan, and Mrs. Ella Mann, of this city. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John Tinling, of the Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left Monday afternoon for West Sullivan, where they will reside.

The salmon dinner given at the First Congregational vestry yesterday by the Organ Fund Society was very successful. A fine dinner was served and was partaken of by a large number of people and the sale of cake and ice cream that continued during the afternoon and evening was well patronized. In the evening there was a display of fireworks on the lawn in charge of Mr. Fred D. Wyman that was very beautiful. The proceeds of the event will go towards the fund for a new organ for the church.

The Fourth in Brewer.

The general observance of the Fourth in Brewer was of the usual noisy character and the small boy celebrated to his heart's content with crackers, blank cartridges, torpedoes and other noise producers all day long. It did not seem as if there was as much of a din during the hours after midnight of Sunday until daylight as is usual but people who dislike to use their sleep did not mind if there wasn't.

At South Brewer a programme of celebration had been arranged by some of the young men and was carried out very successfully. In the morning there was a parade of hurribles and after wards a programme including sack races, potato races, three-legged races, chasing a greased pig and kindred sports was carried out and was most interesting to the large number of spectators that gathered to witness the events.

Many Brewer people went out of town to spend the day, some at celebrations in other places and others to pass a quiet day at the sea or lake shore.

A Thief Chase.

A mob of over five hundred people pursued a man down Sixth-ave. New York, Saturday morning. In Broadway, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, a woman in hysterical shrieks, exclaimed that she had been robbed. Two policemen headed the mob, and they caught the man within three blocks of where the woman was bewailing her loss. He had been seen slipping the booty into his pocket, and afterward said that he had taken nothing more than what belonged to him.

The alleged robber was George Veal, forty-four years old, of No. 111 West Twenty-fourth street, a bartender in Rosenthal's saloon, at Sixth-ave. and Twenty-sixth street. The woman who said she had been robbed was Louise Frason, living at No. 123 West Twenty-seventh street. She said that she was walking along Broadway when Veal, whom she had never seen before, rushed up to her, tore her gold watch from the chatelaine pin to which it was attached, and then ran down Sixth-ave. Her screams attracted Policemen Tighe and McCabe, of the West Thirtieth street station, and they started in pursuit of the man, and the usual crowd joined, shouting "Stop thief!" Veal was taken to the West Thirtieth street station. There he denied having stolen anything, but when he was searched the policemen found the watch in the pocket where they had seen him slip it while running.

When arraigned Veal told Mag strate Flammer that the watch belonged to him. He said the woman had lived with him for three months, and that he allowed her to wear the watch, but never gave it to her. The woman then said he had given her the timepiece at Christmas, and that since then he had followed and annoyed her. Magistrate Flammer held Veal in $500 bail for trial.

Hurt by a Runaway Team.

Because he tried to stop a runaway team of horses, which was madly tearing along First avenue Saturday night, H. J. Freyhalter, nineteen years old, of No. 323 East Forty-fifth street, New York, who is a picture-frame maker, is now in the Presbyterian Hospital with both legs broken. The driver of the team, which was attached to a heavy charcoal wagon, was George Frunk, of No. 401 Fifth street. Shortly after 7 o'clock the team got away from him, and ran along First avenue. Freyhalter ran out in front of the team at Sixty-first street, and made a jump for one of the bridles. He missed his footing and fell prostrate under the horses's hoofs, the wagon passing over him. Besides the fractured legs, he was badly bruised about the body, and it is feared he may have sustained internal injuries. Policeman McNerney, of the East sixty-seventh street station, took the driver to the station, but he was afterward released, the police deciding that he was not to blame.

Golden Gate City Filling up With the Delegates.

Heavy Loaded Special Trains Arriving—Distinguished Delegates Present.

San Francisco, July 5.—The broad green of this city is a sea of color, the decorative ribbons of the Christian Endeavor societies, the stars and stripes and the bunting hung in honor of the national holiday floating in the breeze in flowing waves of blue and gold, purple and white, with the motto of the young peoples' organization displayed on every hand.

The railroad companies are at a loss to find accommodation for all the cars which will arrive this week. They expect to have the yards at West Oakland filled to its fullest capacity, as well as every available side track between Oakland, Niles and Port Costa; over 1,500 Pullman cars are expected.

Something About Chalk.

The small piece of chalk which is in constant use in the schoolroom, the lectureroom, the billiardroom, and the workshop has a strange history, the unraveling of which through all its complexities is one of the most difficult problems with which the science of the present day is called upon to deal. This piece is in reality a chip of an immense block of chalk that once filled an area the size of the continent of Europe, and of which even yet several gigantic pieces remain, each hundreds of square miles in extent. These patches are scattered over the region lying between Ireland on the west and China on the east, and extending in the other direction from Sweden in the north to Portugal in the south.

In the British Isles the chalk is found in greatest perfection and continuity in the east and southeast of England. A sheet of chalk more than 1,600 feet in thickness underlies all that portion of England which is situated to the southeast of a line crossing the island diagonally from the North Sea at Flamborough Head to the coast on the English Channel in Dorset. This enormous piece of chalk is tilted off slightly on the west, and its depressed eastern portions that dip towards the waters of the North Sea are usually buried from sight by means of overlaying sands and clays. Where the edges of the chalk floor come upon the sea the cliff scenery is strikingly grand and beautiful. Anyone who has once seen the magnificent rocks of Flamborough and Beechy Head, the jagged stacks of the Needles, or the dizzy mass of Shakespeare's Cliff, near Dover, can understand why the white cliffs of Albion has grown into a stock phrase.

This massive piece of chalk appears again in France, in many other parts of Europe, as far east as the Crimea, and even in Central Asia, beyond the Sea of Aral. How far it stretched westward, into what is now the Atlantic may never be known, but chalk cliffs of more than 200 feet in thickness are seen in Antrim, in Ireland, and less conspicuous formations are found in Scotland, in Argyle and Aberdeen. There can be little question that all these now isolated patches were once connected in a continuous sheet, which must, therefore, have occupied a superficial area—about 3,000 miles long by nearly 1,000 broad, an extent larger than that of the present continent of Europe.

Dogs are on the increase in Bath. Three hundred and seven dollars have been paid to the city clerk thus far as against 241 last year, and all the dogs have not been licensed yet.

Another record broken. A Kennebunk paper banger is eight hours pasted to the walls 27 rolls with the border, and is wondering who can beat him.

"A NEW FOURTH."

National Christian Citizenship League Much Pleased at Result of Efforts.

Chicago, July 5.—The officers of the National Christian Citizenship League, are very much pleased at the result of their efforts to secure a Fourth of July celebration along the lines of their platform of principles. Their correspondence for the past month has been very heavy, letters coming from all sections of the country endorsing their plans and telling of efforts to carry them out. Mr. Edwin Wheelock, the president, said Sunday: "The league began its work for a new fourth three years ago. The interest has increased each year, but the result this year is by and all others. The south has joined the north and the east the west in the plan for higher citizenship and the application of Christian patriotism to public affairs. Gen. O. O. Howard, Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., and the Hon. Elijah A. Morse prepared the celebration programme carried out in many towns and villages yesterday and which will be carried out in thousands more Monday. Many thousands of sermons were preached yesterday and many of the strongest men among the clergy and laity, Catholic as well as Protestant, furnished telling messages which were read to the congregations. Our correspondence shows that religious denominations, young people's organizations, temperance societies, etc., are strongly interested in the movement. The plan of the league is to get all the people together on a common basis of non-partisan demand for pure government and the success of this year shows that we are progressing toward that end."

ALL OVER THE STATE.

Some one whose idea of what fun may be has taken a peculiar turn, to say the least, put a large block of wood in the street on Mill street, Waterville, Saturday night, and as a consequence Dr. Rancourt is applying lotions to several severe bruises and congratulating himself that he is still among the living! The doctor was called out to relate your that night and he started to answer the call on his bicycle. He got up considerable speed going down Main street and determined to take Mill hill coasting. About half way down the hill he struck the obstacle unseated and all then knew then took a header. The front wheel of the machine was smashed beyond recognition and the bicycle badly wrecked otherwise.

A man went to Waterville from Farmfield Saturday, with the idea that he was about to run the city for such time he pleased. For fear that he might not have sand enough to tackle the whole city he took a liquid companion with him, and then made a break. He first distinguished himself by entering the clothing store of Peavy Bros. He held over some things they did not like to have and they tossed him out upon the walk. He next began operations in the City Hotel but about the time he was looking for bouquets he got another lift to the street. He hung around looking for trouble and other things, making use of language that is not allowed in any well-regulated household, and was making himself generally obnoxious when the city marshal came upon the scene. We draw the curtain for the tragedian has left the stage perhaps forever.

The 10 years old son of Eli Darveau of Tieonic street, Waterville, opened the casualty schedule in that city Sunday afternoon, by the aid of a cannon cracker. He was one of the boys who could not wait for midnight and with several others young Darveau was shooting off considerable powder. The common every day torpedo and the fire cracker did not make noise enough and made trouble enough for that young boy and considerable work for the doctor. The cracker exploded in the boy's hand of course, and Dr Abbott being called found that the flesh of both hands was badly lacerated. There were three distinct cuts in the palm of the right hand and five in the left. The flesh was blown back from the bones but no bones were broken. Amputation will not be necessary but the boy will not celebrate any more this year.

The new Bath council, Knights of Columbus, will be instituted July 18, at Bath, with a charter membership of 35. The degree work will be done by the officers of the Maine councils.

The New York Sun has this yarn to tell of an alleged Maine boy: Chester Matthews arrived in New York from Lewiston, Me., two days ago. He wore a flannel shirt, a slouch hat and pantaloons tucked into his boots. He is 16 years old and carried a pistol. On Tuesday night in Central park, he heard something rustle in the bushes, and thinking he was in the Maine woods blazed away in the hope of bringing down big game. He brought Policeman Mayer up on a run, and was arrested. The lad explained to Magistrate Simms that his people were lumbermen, that he had come to the city to seek his fortune and that he had no intention of breaking the law, but simply acted as he would have done outside a lumber camp if he heard a mysterious noise in the bushes. He was fined $1 and paid it out of a $10 bill. He was surprised to learn that he would have to go to police headquarters to recover his pistol.

While driving in Farmingdale Friday evening, the team of George Clary collided with that of Harry Phillips. Phillips' team was considerably damaged. The accident happened opposite the new saw mill. It is known that when the electric lights are near the ground the light is very blinding and makes it impossible to see. This is how the accident happened.

At a recent meeting of the East Livermore Campmeeting Association, held at the boarding house on the grounds, the following officers were elected: President, C. W. Brown; treasurer, A. D. Brown; secretary, A. D. Cole; directors, N. G. Sanborn, J. R. Libby, Rev. G. R. Palmer. The meeting this year will begin August 20th and will continue one week. Presiding Elder A. S. Ladd will have charge of the services and N. G. Sanborn will conduct the boarding house.

A great part of the liquor supply of Lewiston is smuggled into the city by teams from Leeds Junction and the officers and the smugglers have many a race and game of hide and seek. Constable William Dionne is one of the most vigilant officers, and last week he had a narrow escape. The story is that some of the smugglers heard that Dionne was going out to make a seizure at Leeds and after he had driven out of the city, they organized a party of toughs and sent them out after him. He took one road and the tough a took the other. At a dark place in the woods they stopped and driving into a wood road put up their horses and started on afoot to meet the constable. It was dark and they expected him along any time on his return with the seized stuff. A team was coming in the distance and the man pulled into the bushes by the roadside and when the team arrived, suddenly sprang out and seized the horse's head, while clubs of generous size were held above the head of an unsuspecting farmer of many years and much experience in potato bug picking. Seeing their mistake the highwaymen suddenly evaporated and the frightened farmer rode off at a rapid rate. The next team that came contained a woman who passed unconscious of the gang's presence. As the constable came home on another road the intended chastisers were disappointed and returned to the city without having diluted their revenge.

The first Fourth of July accident or any consequence reported in Augusta, was a bad one. Omer Blouin, a twelve years old French boy, who lives on Laurel street, stooped on Water street Saturday night, to pick up a cracker that he had lighted, and—the same old story—had failed to go off. In its own time, the cracker did all that it was intended to do, and the poor little fellow got a terrible shaking up. The left eye received a lot of the powder, and above and below it was badly cut. He was taken into the office of Dr. L. S. Martin and his wounds were attended to. It is hoped that the sight of the eye will be restored, but it is doubtful if this can be done.

At no previous time has the general government paid so much attention to Portland as now, both in commercial and warlike concerns. Portland harbor will be immensely improved at the expense of the United States and the operations at Fort Preble, Portland Head, Cushing's Island and Diamond Island are extensive in scope and design. Defensive measures are being pushed night and day, the government evidently being anxious to complete the work promptly, for what special reason is best known to the officials who govern the engineer's department. The presence of the big battleship Massachusetts in the harbor calls special attention to the growing naval power of the United States and Portland people to reflect that we are soon to be in a position to "stand off" any powerful war vessel of a foreign nation, even though as formidable as the Massachusetts. We are now looking forward to a peaceful display of our naval resources, but in case of war we should doubtless see more of the real article of naval warfare than we should relish.

A novel exhibition for Poland Springs has been arranged by E. R. Chadbourne, of Lewiston, and will be opened in the Maine State building in a few days. In addition to valuable Maine gems—tourmaline, beryl, topaz and amethyst, there will be showy cabinet specimens of Maine mineral and a handsome display of choice specimens from many distant parts of the world. Dr. A. C. Hamlin, of Bangor, Loren B. Merrill, of Paris, Thomas E. Lamb, of Portland, and Dr. A. E. Foote, of Philadelphia, have aided in making up this interesting collection.

The schooner S. P. Blackburn while towing through the draw of Portland bridge, Friday evening about 6 o'clock collided with the bridge and damaged the draw considerably. It was repaired temporarily, however, after a few hours of work.

He Sleeps in Cemeteries.

A so called tramp, whose nickname is Graveyard Bill, was locked up in Buffalo, N. Y., a few days ago. He has done more or less tramping during the last few years, and owing to his peculiar traits, has been named "Graveyard Bill." The reason therefor is that Bill makes a practice of sleeping in graveyards whenever one is handy. Graveyards rather likes the appellation that has been given to him. He considers it dignified. In explanation of himself, he said:

"I got my name down in Pennsylvania several years ago. I was tramping with a crowd of fellows and one day we got on the outskirts of a big city. I saw a graveyard on the border and as it was getting dark I said I'd stop there to sleep. The other fellows were afraid and they went into the city, where they were pinched. I slept in the graveyard and wasn't pinched. Next time I met one of that gang he called me Graveyard and I've rounded that name around ever since.

"Now, you want to know why I sleep in graveyards? There are two reasons. One of them is this: In my tramping experiences I have found out that there is but one place that is not frequented at night by pedestrians and coppers—that is a graveyard.

"The other reason is this: When I was young and lived down South, me and my parents lived in a cabin in the lee of a negro cemetery. There was a big family of us, and some of my brothers used to stay up all night and get drunk. I was a quiet man and didn't like their performances. One night I wandered over into the graveyard, and it was quiet there and I slept well. I got in the habit of sleeping there every night. I have since then slept in such places when I could find them. Why, there is no place in the world like graveyards for sleeping."

A Profession Demanding Good Lungs and Heart.

Thos. J. Postum Cereal supplies the want to my complete satisfaction, without any of the ill effects of the former. To my mind it is the best thing for athletes that has ever been marketed."

A thoughtful man would quite naturally conclude that if the powerful athletes sought out and used specially selected food in the form of a food coffee it would be a wise thing for a brain worker to do.

An athlete needs energy, vigor, vital force, to win.

How much greater the need of these, by the man or woman who wins by the exhaustive mental process.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Can you offer a single valid reason for deferring the placing of insurance on your life? You cannot offer a single reason for deferring the insurance of your life that you yourself would regard as valid if applied to any other business transaction.

If more men insured their lives there would be fewer widows and orphans to realize how poorly off they are.

It is better to protect our homes and families by good life insurance than to leave them to the protection of the world.

If you take an endowment at once it will mature and be paid to you at an earlier date than if you defer taking it until later.

The inevitable result of weak life insurance is a disappointment.

Life insurance that will when it is most needed is too weak to protect our dependents.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co. stands ready to issue insurance on all sound lives.

There will be a rehearsal of the Bangor Maine festival chorus in Memorial Parlors this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The State Epworth League meeting will be held at Portland, beginning tomorrow and continuing through Friday.

The workmen have placed some flashboards on the water works dam. Within a few days, work will probably begin there on the extensive operations of the addition.

The Josselyn botanical meeting will be held today and through Thursday at Foxcroft. A number will go from this city and vicinity. Excursion rates are offered on the railroad.

An excursion party numbering 75 came to Bangor yesterday from Belfast with the Belfast ball team, to attend the game with the Bangors. They left on the return at the conclusion of the afternoon game.

On account of the excursion under the auspices of the Woman's Exchange, it has been decided to adjourn the managers' meeting and the quarterly meeting of the King's Daughters' Union, from Wednesday to Thursday afternoon.

The A. O. H. field day at Maranacook will occur on July 28, and a big crowd will go. There will be two special trains from Bangor. The Bath, Lewiston and Portland divisions will join in the affair. A fine line of sports has been arranged.

In the municipal court on Monday ten drunks were sentenced and two small boys, Edward Cook and Frank Harvey, were arranged for stealing various articles and money, but were released on payment of the costs, their case standing continued for sentence.

Plans are being made for a fish chowder on the occasion of the Third Parish Sunday school excursion next Friday to Islesboro and Hughes Point. The members of the school and society are going to make this one of the old time kind, when everybody went.

On Monday afternoon Patrolman Davis arrested John and Patrick Judge, of Lewiston, for alleged assault upon Mary L. and Willard Grant, who conduct Grant's boarding house in Pickering Square, Bangor. Both were locked up to await hearing on Tuesday morning.

The Bangor & Aroostook Railroad Company has issued one of the most correct maps for sportsmen and fishermen that has ever been published. It was compiled by Frank A. Frink, one of the B. & A. civil engineers. The map shows every stream and lake of any importance and tells by means of different lines how to get to every place.

The class of '98, Bangor High School, will have an excursion probably the last of July. The committee appointed to take charge of the arrangements is composed of Timothy H. Houlihan, Mary E. Chalmers, Walter Hardy, Wilfred Hennessey, Donald F. Snow and Susan B. Swett.

It seems upon further investigation that the Sears boy on Date street who was injured on Saturday by the explosion of what was reported to be a dynamite exploder found near a sewer trench, did not receive his injuries from that source, but from the explosion of a cartridge belonging to his father's revolver, which he is said to have found in the house.

The premium list for the 15th annual exhibition of the Eastern Maine State Fair association is now being mailed to the different exhibitors and patrons of the departments of the fair. The premium list is finely arranged, and the front cover shows a picture of City Hall and the fair grounds. The fair will open on Tuesday morning, August 31, and will continue Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

A car has been over the line but the curve at Cumberland and Harlow streets was not in condition for use yesterday. The curve may be ready by today or Wednesday, and then cars will run between the car house on State street and the head of Central street, near the Windsor hotel. A 15 or 20-minute service will be given patrons of this new line. The through cars of the company will continue to run over the tracks of the Public Works Co. in State and Exchange streets.

Robert Barry was arrested yesterday charged with assault upon Lawrence Toole. He will be before the Municipal Court today.

On Monday morning a piece of brown wrapping paper containing the words "Roman Catholics, beware. The Knights of Death are out," written in red and black ink, was found pasted upon the glass window in the doors of St. Mary's parochial school on First street. It was evidently the work either of some hair brained chap or some hoaxer.

The excursion to Schoodic lake on Monday, arranged by Anchor Lodge, A. O. U. W., of this city, was participated in by a very large crowd of people. On the regular train which left here at 6.30 o'clock, there were about 150 people for Schoodic and on the special train which left an hour later, there were about 700. The trains which left Greenville in the morning also brought people bound for Schoodic. The sports consisted of a canoe race and jumping contest, both of which were won by Oldtown Indians. The excursionists arrived home in Bangor at 7.30 p. m.

Quite a party of Bangor people arrived home on the steamer Sedgwick yesterday morning from Islesboro where they attended the formal opening of the Islesborough for the season Saturday night. The party went down on the Climax and Sedgwick Saturday and spent a most delightful Sabbath at this favorite resort. The hotel was handsomely decorated in honor of the Fourth and Saturday evening a very pleasant hop occurred. Sunday evening the customary sacred concert was held and the whole time was spent in a most enjoyable manner. Sunday Mr. Frank P. Wood was in the harbor with his yacht, the handsome Tempest, and by his invitation a number of people boarded and inspected her.

DANCE AT CITY HALL.

Pleasant Affair Under the Auspices of the Kindergarten Association.

At City Hall last night a pleasant dance was given under the auspices of the Kindergarten association and there was a fair attendance. The dancing came the first of the evening and it was much enjoyed to the excellent music of members of Pullen's orchestra. The regular order of dances was followed by delicious refreshments which were served at tables arranged around the sides of the hall.

The stage was attractively and appropriately decorated for the occasion, large stars and stripes being used with pleasing effect.

Badly Injured.

William Kelley was brought to this city yesterday on the 3 p. m. train from Pittsfield, in a badly injured condition and was taken to the Eastern Maine General Hospital in the police ambulance. The accident which caused his injury occurred at the Pittsfield railroad station Saturday night. He is said to be a lineman, claiming New York as his residence. One foot was badly injured, the flesh being taken from the heel and dislocating the bones of the instep so that one protruded from the flesh. He was stealing a ride on the Pullman and got on the train at Carmel between the tender of the locomotive and the mail car. As the train entered the station he grasped the handle on the side of the car and with one foot on the step swung his body out of view from the people standing on the platform on opposite side of the train, and in this position was struck by the platform on which freight is unloaded from the cars, his foot coming in contact with one of the trucks which passed over his boot heel and cutting the flesh from the bottom of his foot. He lay very quiet for several minutes then uttered a yell which was heard by B. Thompson, driver of the express. The man was removed to the hotel and physicians attended him. It was decided not to amputate the injured foot as it might be saved. The injured man is about 23 years old.

Northport Hotel Opened Saturday.

The Northport Hotel, at that favorite resort down river, opened Saturday for the season. The hotel this year is under the management of G. F. Danforth and is in fine condition. It has been thoroughly renovated and has been put in a very attractive appearance.

The supervision of the hotel is now in charge of Mrs. Bessie Ellsworth, a Bangor lady, while the dining room is in charge of W. E. Davis, also of Bangor. Just at present F. E. Thompson, of Bangor, who was one of the managers last season, is assisting Manager Danforth behind the desk.

At the opening Saturday a goodly number was present and a hop was enjoyed in the evening. Mr. Danforth is well satisfied with the prospects, he having received applications for rooms which insure a full house during the season. Many Massachusetts and Connecticut people are expected to arrive in a short time.

Among those who registered at the Northport hotel Saturday were Frank T. Mason, Bangor; Chas. J. Burr, Brewer; J. H. Lyon, E. H. Kelly, Bangor; C. H. Gray, Miss Gray, Mrs. A. E. Browne, Old Town; Helen A. Batchelder, J. T. Batchelder, J. G. Baxter, Boston; Mrs. H. D. Adams, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Marden, Belfast; W. Frye Hall, Belfast; A. E. Parker and lady, Belfast.

Let it run, and your cough may end in something serious. It's pretty sure to, if your blood is poor. This is just the time and condition that invites consumption. The seeds are sown and it has fastened its hold upon you, before you know that it is near. It won't do to trifle and delay, when the remedy is at hand. Every disorder that can be reached through the blood yields to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For severe coughs, bronchial, throat and lung diseases, asthma, scrofula in every form, and even scrofulous affection of the lungs that's called consumption, in all its earlier stages, it is a positive and complete cure.

LOST BY ONE RUN

In the Forenoon Game on Monday but Had Sweet Revenge in Afternoon.

The Bangors "broke even" with the Belfasts yesterday, losing a game in the forenoon and winning one in the afternoon.

The story of the forenoon game is soon told. It was to have begun at 10 o'clock but as the boat which brought the Belfast team did not arrive until 11 it was 11.30 before the umpire said "play ball" and about 300 people waited for an hour and a half for the music to begin. The game opened up well for the Bangors and by making a few hits off Ulmer, assisted by some costly errors by the visitors they had a score at the end of their half of the fourth inning of seven against one lonely for the Belfasts and apparently had the game won.

But it was lost to them in the last half of that inning when the down river boys fell on Fowler's delivery and batted out seven runs, which gave them a lead. They added to this in the fifth in spite of a change of pitchers, Casey going into the box for the Bangors in that inning in place of Fowler. The home team rallied in the seventh and eighth and tied the score but their opponents got in another run in the eighth and they were unable to do anything in the ninth and so the game closed with the score 11 to 10 in favor of Belfast. The following is the detailed score:

Afternoon Game.

In the afternoon the Bangors took a sweet revenge on the convict striped talent from Cemeteryville. Life is too short to tell you much about the game of hit and run. It was rip, slam, bang! from the time the umpire said "play ball," with the aforesaid rip, slam, bang, on our side almost entirely.

Owing to the length of the morning game, the afternoon game was not called until late and it was 3.25 when the veteran Dilworth pitched the first ball to Sharrott. Jack waited until three balls and two strikes had been called and then sent the next one to right center for a home run.

And that reminds us of a remarkable coincidence. In the afternoon game of July 4, 1894, in the first inning, first man at bat, with 2 strikes and 3 balls, Sharrott put out a homer, off Con Lucid of the Haverhills. July 4, 1895, afternoon, with 2 strikes and 1 ball, 1st inning, first man at bat, he put out a homer, off Dilworth of the Augustas. Yesterday afternoon, with 3 balls, 2 strikes, 1st inning, first man at bat, Sharrott made a homer. All the hits were to right center.

Cronin was the star batter yesterday—5 with a total of 15. McKenzie made a phenomenal stop, also Birmingham. Reagan made a fine one hand catch. Sharrott did some remarkable fielding. The score:

Notes.

His jacet! So endeth the Maine State League! Conceived on a cold day, born in rainy weather and died in hard luck. No treasury but that of a Rockwell could stand the repeated butting against rain and cold weather for weeks after the opening of the season. Such a combination of adverse circumstances would not bob up twice in a century, but Prince Lorenzo Toole got the only grasshopper on the farm, likewise the other Maine managers. Sich is life!

The attendance yesterday afternoon was about 1,100.

Too bad to miss base ball this summer, isn't it? But Manager Toole can't run a team all by his lonesome. He would if he could get teams somewhere near us to play against his talent.

Danforth News.

Our correspondent writes: Mr. and Mrs. Stillman White, of Topsfield, are visiting friends in town.

The Sabbath schools in Danforth, Weston and Bancroft had a picnic at Grand Lake Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Kirkland, of Hodgdon, were in town last week.

P. N. Hall and family are in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Gilpatrick, of Houlton, are visiting friends in town.

A. R. Tuck, of Providence, arrived home last Friday.

Varney Putnam is home from Colby college.

O. J. Dirling is expected home this week.

Mrs. C. H. Merrill is at Houlton.

John Stinchfield is at home for a few weeks.

Quite a number from Brookton attended the races.

Fire Monday Night.

At 10.30 o'clock last night an alarm was rung in from box 73 and the fire department found the cause to be a fire in the ell of the Dr. Stetson house at the corner of State and Gilman streets. Hose was quickly laid and in a short time the fire was extinguished. It is not known just how the fire caught but it is thought that it was the work of an incendiary. The fire was confined to the ell and the damage was not large.

Kennebec Journal: Jack Hanson, the popular bookkeeper for Bangs Bros., left for his home in Bangor Saturday for a short visit.

THE FOURTH

Quietly Observed in Bangor—Some Incidents of the Day.

The Fourth, or rather its necessary substitute this year, the 5th, was observed in Bangor in comparative quietness, there being no celebration except the explosion of bombs, fire crackers, guns, revolvers, etc., and some private fireworks' displays in the evening. The bells were also rung at sunrise and sunset. There was considerable noise during the day but not what it has been in years past.

The public offices, the banks and many of the stores were closed during the day. Quite a number of flags were displayed about the city and upon the vessels in port.

Yesterday afternoon Patrolman Lottus found a small boy engaged in firing a gun at the band stand in Center Park. The gun was loaded with something, the boy said pieces of wood, and he was preparing the band stand. The patrolman decided to confiscate the gun that the band stand might not be knocked over.

Monday morning, while the young son of Mr. John F. Crowley was sitting on a hydrant on State street near the Public Library, he was badly burned by powder set off by two boys who ought to know better. The boys stole up behind him with a box in which a long fuse was concealed. They put the box down, it is reported, and departed. When the fuse burned off the powder charge in the box exploded and the boy was severely burned about the face and head. Master Crowley was taken home and attended by a physician.

A crew of city workmen has been laying a concrete walk on Hammond street near the residence of Mr. G. Irving Rice and Saturday night they left two piles of concrete all ready to spread nearly in front of the house. Monday morning some boys put several big fire crackers in the concrete and touched them off. The concrete flew in every direction and it was found that the side of the Rice house was much defaced. The boys have not yet been discovered.

Doxter's Celebration.

Our correspondent writes: Dexter celebrated the glorious Fourth on the third. Elaborate preparations were made for the best display in years. A dubious, cloudy and wet atmosphere in the morning greatly hindered the carrying out of the programme and as the driving park proved too wet for the races, owing to the rain during the night, it was finally arranged to declare the races off and postpone the forenoon programme to the afternoon.

In the afternoon the streets were well filled with people notwithstanding the unpropitious weather outlook and with the exception of the fantastics, which had largely disorganized in order to participate in the other attractions, the programme under the marshhalship of Owen W. Bridges, Esq., whose capacity for organizing none excel and few equal, the programme was carried out to perfection.

The trial of the three fire engines was the first attraction to be exhibited. In this contest the two village companies played first with their modern hand fire engines making a pretty contest. Then followed old Tiger 3, built in 1843 and purchased of Bath in 1860, located at Spooner's Mills or South Dexter since 1878. This "Tub" has an enviable record and as she sided up to the water tank and unlimbered for business the interest became intense, and when the stream began to crawl up towards the mark set for the village chaps and was seen to be passing straight over their mark a tremendous cheer rent the air.

This play reached 200 feet. The second play was elevated into the branches of the maples and was not so good. The farmer boys then retired, remarking, in looks if not audibly, that they would play again whenever they could find a foeman worthy their steel. It is claimed for this machine that she is the best in the State in her class and could easily be made to far exceed her throw of Saturday. There is talk of organizing a crew to attend the State muster with her.

Another particular feature of the day was the trade's procession, nearly a mile in length and in which nearly every trader and business man in the town was represented. This was the special pride of Marshal Bridgen, whose indefatigable labors had brought it about alone.

It was the finest display of the day and was the best ever exhibited here.

The races on the flat were good and the exhibition of the fire department in the latter part of the day was the cause of much favorable comment. Several streams were thrown entirely over our tallest building, 4 stories, convincing everybody that Dexter is capable of handling her fires in better shape than ever.

The entertainment at the ball in the evening was first class in every particular. The Apollo Quartette and Miss Sullivan, of Bangor, were all cheered and recalled several times.

An Outrage.

An observance of Independence Day is commendable if carried out in the proper spirit and people can stand a fair amount of noise and all that, but when it comes to depredations in the grounds of citizens it becomes a matter for severe condemnation and it is a cause for regret that the perpetrators cannot be apprehended and rigorously punished. On a recent evening some dastardly wretches entered the garden of Mrs. Burleigh Pease on Grove street and destroyed the plants which she had cared for and taken great interest in. It was an outrage which has caused much indignation and the pity is that such dastards exist.

Charles Cox Dead.

Saturday's St. John, N. B., Telegraph says:

"A man about whom absolutely nothing is known died dead at the hospital, and will be buried tomorrow. The man arrived here on Tuesday's American train. He was very sick and unable to give any account of himself or to tell why he came here, so was taken to the hospital. There he was questioned repeatedly, but as his physical condition prevented talking above a whisper, very little was learned. He said he was Charles Cox, a machinist, 65 years of age, and that he came here from Bangor to stay here with friends.

"He was unable to give the names of these friends, and the only name that could be got from him was that of William H. Stevenson, Pittsburg. Immediately after the man's death a telegram was sent to Pittsburg, but the authorities there reported that they were unable to find such a person. Mr. Cox was destitute. He left no money, and no papers that would in any way identify him."

It is learned that Cox formerly lived in this city but had not been here for some time. Several years ago he kept the York street house.

The Bicycle Path.

The bicycle path was enjoyed by a large number yesterday. It will now be open only for members. It is in fine condition and is a delightful place to ride. About 3½ miles up is a handsome arbor has been erected over the track and it has a light with a reflector on the southerly side. It was a happy idea. Interest is growing daily in the path and it is the success of years.

Mr. Stinson Hooper, of Swan's Island, is in the city on business. He carries on a large stone business at Swan's Island.

DELICIOUS COOKERY.

Lecture Upon That Subject at Y. M. C. A. Hall Monday.

At Y. M. C. A. Hall Monday afternoon a good sized audience of Bangor ladies had the pleasure of listening to an excellent lecture upon cooking, with a practical demonstration of the same, by Miss Diana Stevens, of Boston, and Mrs. Towksbury. The lectures go under the name of the New Era Cooking School and teach what is proper food, how to properly cook that food, and how to properly utilize it.

The lecture was very interesting and instructive and showed that proper food, properly cooked, properly utilized, makes manly men and beautiful women, rugged boys and healthy girls. In response to a request the ladies took spoons, forks and napkins and were served with some deliciously cooked dishes which were prepared in their presence. The practical demonstration of the ideas of the lecture was very conclusive to all.

The lectures will be continued to-day and to-morrow at 2.30 p. m. They are free and everybody is invited. The occasions present both mental and physical refreshment. To-day's menu is as follows:

Cream of Spinach Soup.
Cheese Soufflee.
Fish Chops.
Asparagus on S. W. B. Toast.
Egg Eclo.
Silver Jelly.

Wednesday's menu is as follows:

Lobster a la Worcester.
Cream Spinach on S. W. B. Toast.
Tomato Salad.
Mushrooms in Biscuit Baskets.
Bird's Nest Pudding.

THE FASHIONS.

Trimmed skirts increase in favor as the season advances.

Mousseline brilliante is a new gauzy textile much used by Raudnitz, Beers and Paquin for display evening toilets. It has a very silky surface and is remarkably dainty and beautiful.

Most of the new tucked evening gowns of gauzy material have rows of handsome Venetian lace insertion on bodice and skirt. Other toilets are made with Gainsborough fichus of tulle or mousseline de soie crossed over the corsage, passed under the arms and tied at the back.

Accordion pleated skirts of black silk grenadine, canvas, tulle, black Swiss muslin dotted in silk, fancy French and Russian nets and similar diaphanous textiles are made up over gored foundations of brilliant Turkish red or golden yellow satin. Portions of the bodice and sleeves are likewise pleated and finished with elegant decorations in cut jet.

Gros de Tours is one of the popular silks this summer and has a soft finished corded surface, slightly heavier in quality than taffeta but less glossy. It is used in the pale tints for evening toilets and in browns, grays and greens for church, visiting, etc. Some of the grounds are stripped with satin in brown or black, then figured with small leaves or flowers or quaint old-fashioned figures. These patterns make charming fancy waists.

For cool and pretty gowns—qualities that in the eyes of the majority nowadays lose nothing by the additional fact that they are inexpensive—nothing is better than the sheer delicate all wool delaines trimmed with ribbon in any of the thousand and one ways approved by fashion. No more dainty gowns could be desired at the seashore or in the mountains, for while comfortable and dressy at the same time they resist dampness and wear as no sort of white or light cotton gown can. Elderly women can suitably wear delaines in dark colors for morning dress. The material is not suitable for afternoon dress. In lighter combinations of color, however, delaine handsomely trimmed with lace or ribbon leaves little to be desired on the score of smartness.

Cordings, frills and tucks are, so to speak, the standbys of the dressmakers. A series of narrow tucks, the running thread slightly drawn to fill the tucks, serve to decorate many fashionable bodices and blouses. Women who have thin arms, and feel obliged to follow the new whim of fashion in wearing the very close fitting sleeves, find this sort of trimming for them a very satisfactory compromise between the old and the new models.

Cording is much used on dress skirts, and very often just below the waist. This plan, while securing the fashionable close fit around the hips, allows for the expansion of the skirt below, giving the effect of a very deep flounce. Perhaps the newest development is the skirt made with three flounces of equal width, one overlapping the other, the top flounce being put on with the waistband. Most of the flounces are either tucked on the lower edge, or finished with rows of faille or moire ribbon. Some of the plain skirts have a narrow bias frill at the hem, with three rows of very narrow black velvet ribbon at the edge.

There is a rage in Paris for gray in every tint and tone, and in every material from serge to satin brocade.

The dress parasols this year are extremely beautiful, and the rich and dainty fabrics and coloring used in their creation are simply marvelous. Solid gold and silver handles are no longer popular, natural ivory, Dresden china of the finest, and fancy woods being considered much smarter. Some of the garden party and "fete" models are ornate to absurdity, and look quite as much like decorated lamp shades as they do like parasols. These articles of dress are this season exceedingly simple or very much the reverse. You may correctly carry an unlined, unfrilled shade with a very fashionable gown—provided of course, its quality is of the best; otherwise, the parasol may be decorated inside and out in the most elaborate manner that fancy can devise. Many of the costly transparent styles are unlined, but layer after layer of chiffon is used on the outside instead. The pretty grass cloth and satin foulard parasols are in strong contrast to these chiffon fancies, but they are useful in the extreme.

Blue and green have become very great friends—all friends now, if intimate association can make them so—though the friendship never seemed desirable. A certain shade of blue and a particular shade of dahlia—a reddish purple—though startling as a contrast, are also seen in company on French hats and gowns. A young lady recently returned from abroad, wore the other day a gown made of a rather pale shade of gray-blue cloth combined with faille silk of a reddish tinge of purple, with a vest of apricot satin.
